9.00 – 11.00

Mija Selič: Teaching 7- and 8-year olds

Engaging young children into learning English is fun and interesting providing you have the right teaching aids and understand what sparkles their interest. Come and see how you can easily jazz it up!

Alenka Gortan: Decadence of Victorian life or how (not) to be an ideal husband.

A short amusing quiz will take you through Victorian decadent times and then an ideal husband will be discussed along with a heap of (free) teaching materials for practical use in classrooms. Please, come and share 😊.

11.30 – 12.30

Irena Šubic Jeločnik: Real Teacher, Real Learners, Real English

While 'full-blown' Learner Autonomy seems to be difficult to achieve in Slovenia for multiple and complex reasons, it IS possible to develop authentic communication and implement a number of (adapted) elements of LA that lead to increased target language use of the learners.

Lunch break

14.00 – 15.30

Sandra Vida: Cuisenaire rods for all levels?!? Whaaat???

We will sit together in a cosy atmosphere to experience what learning should be like, drawing on your creativity, imagination and of course knowledge of using English language ;)

15. 45 – 17.00

HarrogateOnline based discussion: What happened during the Sugata Mitra plenary and why should we care and

New government, new Minister of Education, new politics, new guidelines...

What can and should we do about it?
